On 21 January 1955, 15 railroad tank cars were moved to the shunting track south of Dessau airfield. The reason for this operation could not be determined. Construction materials stored in the southeastern corner of the field were loaded on railroad cars and shipped away. The removal of debris at the field was being pushed ahead.

Comment. No observations were made indicating an intended reoccupation of Dessau airfield. The 15 railroad tank cars observed south of the field are probably connected with the Aken fuel supply depot. 25X1
